

ABSTRACT

A system captures one or more images of a process chamber having a view port.

The system includes a radiation source to generate radiation; and a camera coupled to the process chamber and adapted to receive the radiation from the radiation source

5 illuminating the process chamber.